

Terry Lewitzka – Artist’s Profile

FRSASA AAIA member

“Australian Guild of Realists Artists”

Terry studied at the South Australian School of Art and also under the late John Goodchild and Reg Hicks who studied at and presented the Melbourne School of Art “Tonal Impressionism” techniques to his students in Adelaide during the 60’s. More recently the Dutch Den Haag School, and artists’ of the late 1800’s and early 1900’s have had a profound effect on Terry’s work. During formal training Terry Lewitzka travelled widely, visiting European Galleries and meeting artists from various countries.

Terry paints in the manner of the traditional impressionistic school, his work having a freshness which imparts much of the vigor and energy associated with impressionists. His liking for rural and outback landscapes and coastal seascapes demonstrate a close affinity with creation. Oil and water-colours feature widely in this painter’s work and within a well defined style of an obviously dedicated artisan, the works of Terry Lewitzka will hold great appeal.

He has won many art prizes over the years and has had many one man exhibitions as well as exhibiting in combined exhibitions. Works by Terry have been published on Calenders and in books and magazines. He was admitted as a fellow of the Royal South Australian society of Arts in 1982. As an associate of the Advertising Institute of Australia he operated his own business, as a commercial artist, from 1984 untill 1994. from 2001 Terry has continued to be an Honourary Member of the Rotary Club of Victor Harbor.
